A group of artists is invited to be inspired by the work of the Belgian filmmaker Chantal Akerman, specifically by her film News From Home (1976). The artists are asked to make one film together, each with their own voice, style, and starting point. Details such as letters and metros, and themes such as dislocation, detached city life, alienation versus feeling at home, distance versus proximity, and the mother-daughter relationship, echo Akerman's films. This kaleidoscopic film becomes a way of engaging in dialogue with her work.
